WINTER 2019

2019 has been an interesting year for me. I spent November 2018 in the hospital and most of 2019 rehabbing. Began the year in a wheel chair, then a walker, and finally a cane.

I only did one major piece of art in the first half of the year, "CHEROKEE COUNTRY" for the new Casino in Tahlequah Oklahoma. It wasn't until the end of August I finally felt up to being fully engaged in creating new work, and the piece I created, "TOPSY TURVY, PART 2", was one of the most involved and creative pieces I have done in years. The first show I entered "TOPSY TURVY, PART 2" was the Chickasaw Nations SEASAM Art Show and I was honored to receive BEST OF CATEGORY for all 2 Dimensional Art.

The next and final show of 2019 was the Cherokee Nations Art Market, where the Cherokee Nation purchased the piece for the new Cherokee Outpatient Health Center in Tahlequah Oklahoma.

I am looking forward to the new year to being a very creative one, with a lot of new and original pieces of art.
